Resolutions requesting state aid for the widening and repaving of Stewart avenue from the city limits to the Fulton county line were adopted this afternoon by the Fulton county commission following a report by Commissioner Walter B. Stewart that he could be made to make heavy "a" in a plea to the state highway board.

In the resolutions, the board of commissioners pointed out that Fulton county assessors furnish 20 percent of the entire cost of the state highway department, and that except in one single instance, this county has never accepted or received state aid for any highway project. "The" Stewart avenue is one of the most heavily traveled routes into Atlanta, and that there is a pressing need for the road to be done.

Commissioner Stewart told the board of the commissioners that the county has been trying to enlist the aid of the highway board for two years, and that it met with a cool re-charges of misuse of cigar and cigarette tax stamps were announced Wednesday by R. E. Matheson, state commissioner of revenue.

C. H. Buck, manager of the Interstate News Company, was fined $75, and J. L. Pineus, manager of the Crescent News and Hotel Company, was fined $50. In addition 330 cartons of cigars and 42 boxes of cigars were confiscated at the two establishments. They will be sold at auction in front of the court house.

Mr. Matheson did not know the number of convictions in Augusta, but said an inspector had informed him by telephone that several had been obtained.

Coast Guard Service Positions Are Open

Recruiting for the United States coast guard service is reported active, and applicants are being accepted at the following points:

The speakers will be introduced by Colonel E. E. Phillips, city attorney of East Point, and music for the occasion will be furnished by the Georgia Railway & Power Company band. Special arrangements are being made to divert traffic from Main street during the exercises.

the highway board has put it off, he said. The county's plan is to have the state take over the highway while the county provides the labor.

Much Work Laid Out.

In a statement at the board meeting, Commissioner J. S. Etheridge, chairman of the public works committee, said that the county had more than enough work laid out to consume the remainder of the year, and that, if the state made a contribution of the treasury, it would be impossible to take on any new projects except those of an emergency nature. Mr. Etheridge said he had a list of about 100 projects, and he estimated that it would be possible to do only a tenth of it. The county does not want to do any grading without the prospect of paving, and all concrete work, he said, must be done in jobs that will be put into the quarry so that the county can store up material for next year's program, he said.

Mr. Etheridge said the developer, revealed unique situation to the board when he reported that through mistake he has been paying taxes on the DeKalb county land to Fulton County. He said he was not aware that the error was called to his attention recently by DeKalb authorities.

Mr. Rivers asked that money due DeKalb county during the past seven years be refunded so that he can pay it over to the proper county. The commissioners referred the matter to the county attorney for investigation.

A delegation of citizens from Sheridan road protested against the location of the new Buckhead fire station on the grounds of the North Fulton High School, where a permanent, steeply up-grade exists on Sheridan road, and that it would be dangerous because of the rapid travel on Peachtree street. The delegation pointed out of Sheridan road into the main thoroughfare. The matter was referred to the fire station committee for investigation.

The Atlanta Commission appropriated $1,500 for the Labor Day celebration of the Atlanta Federation of Trades on September 1, at the request of William Keller, who has been transferred here in charge of the new station, located in the Walton building.

At the present time, the service is open to young men between the ages of 18 and 35, of good character and education, in the following classes: Seamen, firemen, radiomen, cooks, yeomen, machinists and electricians. Those found qualified are being enlisted and transferred to the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., for a period of long training.

State Peace Officers' Body Meets Here Today

Ben T. Watkins, chief of police at Macon and president of the Georgia State Sheriffs' and Peace Officers' Association, has called a meeting of the executive committee of the organization for 10 o'clock this morning.

He said many important matters, including a cipher code to be used by the association in communications with city and county authorities, will be discussed.

SENSATION OF THE MEDICAL WORLD

Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablet,
Does Not Gripe, Nauseate
Nor Salivate.

The horrors of Saturday night Calomel-taking are a thing of the past. According to druggists, Calotabs, the de-nauseated calomel tablet, is a grand success, the triumph of modern pharmacy. Not the slightest danger or unpleasantness attends its use and yet it exhibits all the liver-cleansing and system-purifying qualities of the old-style calomel.

There can be no doubt that calomel is the most valuable and universally useful of all medicines and now that its objectionable qualities have been removed its popularity will have no bounds. One Calotab at bedtime, with a glass of water—no taste, no nausea, or unpleasantness whatever. The next morning you are feeling fine, liver clean, splendid appetite. Eat what you please—no danger.

Beware of imitations! Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checker-board" (black and white) packages bearing the copyrighted trade-mark "Calotabs." The large, family size sells for thirty-five cents; vest-pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs—(adv.)

Change of Drivers Costly to Jarrell

Because he is said to have changed seats with an underage driver of a car that participated in an accident at the corner of Boulevard and Forrest avenue, and assumed blame for the collision, Charles S. Jarrell, Jr., was fined $25 and costs, given 30 days, and was prohibited from driving an automobile in the city limits for 90 days, by Acting Recorder Councilman Joe Berman Wednesday afternoon. The fine and the 30-day sentence were suspended upon his agreement to pay for all damages in the case.

At the hearing, evidence was offered to show that Jarrell speeded away from the scene of the accident and was arrested only after a chase through the North Side section. He testified that at the time of the accident he was not driving the machine but that he changed places with Pete Demetris, 15-year-old youth, who was driving.

Demetris admitted to the court that such was the case and that he surrendered the wheel of the car because he feared arrest. Recorder Berman ordered him held for the juvenile court to answer a charge of leaving the scene of an accident without giving his name.

Authorities Free Slayer of Father

SALLISAW, Okla., July 2.—(P)—
A 14-year-old boy, who shot and killed his father after being beaten for refusing to go after more liquor for his parent, was freed today by county authorities.

The boy, Elijah Benton, Jr., shot his father last night with a rifle to save himself from a further thrashing.
County Attorney R. O. Ingle said no charges would be filed.

The boy said his father had been drinking heavily and he feared he would be killed. Two brothers, a sister and neighbors confirmed the

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL

LONGER-LASTING, "CRACK-PROOF"

THE Texas Company again demonstrates its leadership in the petroleum field with the introduction of a vastly superior, new product—a motor oil that lasts longer—that is crack-proof—a motor oil that meets exactly every requirement of the high speed automobile engine of today! This new oil revolutionizes lubrication values as completely as the new and better Texaco Gasoline, the original "dry" gas, revolutionized motor fuels in the Spring of 1926.

An Oil Without Precedent

There have been oils that gave remarkable mileage. There have been oils that flowed freely at zero. There have been oils that kept your engine completely free of wax and carbon troubles. But—never until now have all these advantages been combined in any one single lubricant. That motor oil is ready for you today. It is the new Texaco—longer-lasting and crack-proof. Road tests—laboratory tests have proved it.

Available in all our 48 States

Fill your crankcase with this new crack-proof motor oil today. It will more than pay you, not only in greater value for your lubrication dollar but for your car dollar as well. It is manufactured in five grades: C, D, E, F, and G, corresponding in body to Society of Automotive Engineers (S. A. E.) viscosity ratings. 30¢ a quart everywhere (35¢ for grade G).

THE TEXAS COMPANY

Refiners of a complete line of Texaco Petroleum Products including Gasoline, Motor Oil, Industrial Lubricants, Railroad and Marine Lubricants, Farm Lubricants, Road Asphalts and Asphalt Roofing.

ARREST EXPECTED IN SLUGGING CASE

An arrest was expected hourly late Tuesday by Chief of Detectives Lamar Poole in the mysterious slugging of O. E. Foster, 48, of 636 North Highland avenue, N. E., who was found in a critical condition in his small produce truck earlier in the day on Felton drive, near Currier street.

changed when I started Sargon," recently stated Mrs. Birdie Cook, 1318 Campbellton Road, S. W., Atlanta. "I'd get so short of breath and 'fainty' after meals that I'd have to get out of the house to the fresh air. I suffered terribly with nervous headaches and pains in my back and an 'uneasy' feeling in my right side. I was so nervous I rarely ever enjoyed refreshing sleep, but I've fully recovered from all my troubles since I started Sargon. I weigh 105 pounds now, am alert and energetic and my sleep is sound and refreshing. I know now that my three years of suffering are behind me!"

Sargon Pills had a wonderful effect on my liver and didn't upset me in the least. They rid me of constipation of years standing and the relief they gave me has been lasting. It is a pleasure to recommend this remarkable Sargon treatment."

would lead to the arrest of a suspect within a few hours.

At Grady hospital, where the victim of the early morning assault was taken, it was said that his condition still was considered extremely critical. Little hope being entertained for his recovery. His head had been beaten in two fractures of the skull being disclosed upon examination by hospital attendants.

The victim of the attack was discovered by R. O. Atkinson, who carries a paper route in the vicinity of Currier and Felton drive. He notified officers, who discovered from papers in the wounded man's pockets that he was a produce peddler. At the home of Foster, Mrs. Foster told officers she had not seen her husband since Sunday when she said, he had left in the small produce truck, saying he was going to Fort Valley "to buy peaches" for the local trade. She expressed the belief that he had sold his wares and had been slugged and robbed of his money. The Fosters have six children.

Rum Possession Argued as Legal

NEW YORK, July 2.—(P)—The contention that possession of liquor in itself is not unlawful was argued before a United States commissioner here on behalf of a patron arrested in a night club raid.

Frederic R. Couderc, Sr., prominent attorney, appearing for Raymond Ackerman, who was arrested in a prohibition raid on the Hollywood restaurant last April, pointed out that the United States supreme court recently held that the purchase of intoxicating liquor is not unlawful and contended that the possession without the intention to sell, manufacture or transport could therefore not be unlawful.

"To tell a man that he may lawfully purchase liquor, but that once having acquired the possession of it he is committing a crime by such possession," he said, "is to turn the law into one of those ridiculous farces which would have been so admirably exploited by Gilbert and Sullivan and to which Will Rogers makes such pertinent allusions."

"If it were true that the mere possession of liquor, without evidence that it was a step in the transportation, manufacture or sale, were unlawful, then the Volstead act has transcended the limits of the constitution and is pro tanto unconstitutional."

Commissioner O'Neill ruled that other authorities had held possession of liquor to be prima facie evidence of intent to sell and held Ackerman in $500 bail for trial. Couderc said he was prepared to carry his argument to the United States supreme court if necessary.

Chinese Nationalists Smash Rebel Forces

SHANGHAI, July 2.—(P)—Defeated along a 40-mile front in Honan province, northern alliance rebels fought back fiercely today as government armies hammered them slowly toward the Yellow river banks.

Smashing through rebel lines extending from east of Kaifeng to west of Kaifeng, the nationalists seized important positions in the battle, they may decide the rebellion's fate. A surprise attack cut northern defenses near Lanfeng and sent rebels in wild flight. Government troops pursued to the Chihli province border.

Five thousand rebels were captured west of Lanfeng, said nationalists dispatches. Charging against heavy fire, government troops took 30 field guns, thousands of rifles and numerous machine guns.

Nationalists gained the advantage after 10 days' hard fighting in the campaign to prevent rebels reaching Nanking and ousting Chung Kai-shek's government.

Undismayed by today's battering, Yen Hsi-shan, northern alliance leader, announced his intention of ending dissension within his ranks by establishing an independent government at Peiping.

Fokker Questioned After Aerial Stunts

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—(P)—Department of commerce inspectors questioned Anthony H. G. Fokker today, after he had performed an aerial dance of jubilation low over Roosevelt field, then they announced that they had found the plane designer had no license to fly, but later amended their statement to say that he had let his license lapse.

They said that he had failed to take his latest periodical physical examination. This neglect was quickly repaired by an examination at Mitchell field, and it was said a license renewal would be mailed from Washington at once.

Fokker came to the field to witness the departure for Chicago of the Southern Cross, which he designed. He was so elated at the way the heavily loaded ship behaved on the takeoff that he jumped into a small sport plane and took to the air himself with wings wagging.

He swooped about low over the field, giving vent to his enthusiasm by skimming close over hangars, and attracted the attention of department of commerce men, who were waiting for him when he landed. Fokker was accompanied on his jaunt by Luba Phillips, western woman flier.

Fokker does a considerable amount of flying, he took the controls for a few minutes while accompanying the Southern Cross fliers to Washington two days ago in a 32-passenger transport of his design.

Safety Council Hears Dr. Witherspoon Dodge

Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, prominent local minister, was the principal speaker before the members of the Atlanta safety council at their weekly luncheon Wednesday. He took as his subject, "Safety on Earth as Well as Heavenly Safety," and dwelt at length upon the matter of Sunday recreation. He advised innocent places of amusement so that the crowded condition of public highways on the Sabbath may be lessened.

$1,000,000 IN ROADS TO BE LET ON JULY 30

Projects To Be Included Not Announced After Board Meeting.

A million dollar contract letting will be held July 30, it was announced Wednesday at the conclusion of a meeting of the state highway board. No announcement of the identity of the projects to be included was made, but it was said that most of them would be in south Georgia.

The reason for this, it was said, is that more northern areas have heretofore been favored, in order that the work might be completed before winter and that south Georgia projects have been withheld in order that work in the state might continue uninterrupted through the colder season. Construction of the projects, it is understood, will begin in August and will continue through the fall. The contracts will be let subject to the approval of federal engineers. Federal authorities, it was said, have already endorsed them, but the provision is inserted in order that assurance of full co-operation by the state may be given them. The projects will be advertised within the next few days.

POWER COMPANY WINS CAR TRACK PAVING SUIT

Decision Reached in Action Brought by Decatur and Macon.

The Georgia Power Company won Wednesday in the Georgia supreme court in two suits instituted by Decatur and Macon to compel payment by the power company of the costs of paving between street car tracks.

The Decatur suit originated when the power company refused to pay for paving between car tracks on Ponce de Leon avenue. The city attempted to levy on a power sub-station and some unimproved property south of the railroad tracks, and the levy was allowed by Judge John B. Hutcheson, who directed a verdict.

The supreme court ruled that the city has no right to levy against property which, although owned by the power company, has no connection with the question of paving between tracks. The city had sued for $13,444 and $2,711 interest.

It was brought out by the power company that the property in question was acquired through the Georgia Railway & Electric Company, and had no relation to the case.

The decision in the Macon case affirmed one of the Bibb county superior court granting a permanent injunction against the city of Macon in connection with assessments for paving certain streets on which the company operates car lines.

The city had granted the Macon Railway & Light Company, the company's predecessor, from paving costs in an ordinance passed by city council. The city contended as a defense to the injunction petition that the ordinance was unconstitutional.

The power company showed that the legislature had authorized the adoption of the measure and ruled that it was constitutional.

All justices of the supreme court except Justice Marcus Beck disqualified themselves in the trial of the case because they or members of their families were stockholders in the power company. Superior Court Judges R. E. of Tifton; B. C. Gardner, of Camilla; Eschol Graham, of McKee, and G. Oden Persons, of Forsyth, served in their stead.

3 Pedestrians Killed, 35 Hurt During June

Three pedestrians were killed and 35 other persons were injured in 173 automobile accidents during June, it was announced Tuesday by the Atlanta Motor Club, which issued a plea to motorists to observe caution in driving during their outings Friday and Saturday. Of the injured during the 30-day period just past, the report showed, 11 were children.

Hit-and-run drivers were responsible for 12 injuries "and did considerable property damage," the report sets forth. Automobiles figuring in mishaps were driven by 147 white men, 19 negro men, six white women and one negro woman. Most of the accidents recorded occurred between 6 o'clock at night and 2 o'clock in the morning.

In making public the monthly report of motor casualties, Charlie Cook, secretary of the club, also requested J. L. Wells, chairman of the streets committee in council, for assistance in renewing badly defaced and worn-out traffic stop signs at dangerous intersections and at main boulevards.

Loss of Wheel Causes Downtown Melon Feast

The sudden jerk given by a street car rail at Forsyth and Hunter streets to a wheel of the decrepit wagon driven by Joe Johnson, negro, of 218 Hilliard street, Wednesday afternoon brought Joe a flock of ill fortune and treated others of Joe's race to a feast of watermelon not intended for them. The wheel left the wagon at the unexpected strain and Joe's choice assortment of melons spilled into traffic, whereupon negro passers-by swooped into the street and obtained the ingredient for a watermelon cutting. The temporary setback given Joe's melon business will be repaired forthwith by the addition of a new wheel to the ancient vehicle, he announced, as he surveyed the watermelon wreckage and sighed at the thought of having been an involuntary host to his melon-hungry fellows.

Man Found in Woods With Wound in Arm

W. H. Lemmond, 50, of 1313 Lanier boulevard, weak from loss of blood from a knife wound in the left arm, said to have been self-inflicted, was discovered in a clump of woods on Peachtree creek near the Cherokee bridge late Wednesday afternoon by Lamar Butler, a negro.

He was rushed to Grady hospital by Captain John Oliver, of the county police, and first aid treatment was applied to the wound to halt the bleeding. Later permanent bandages were applied and the patient was allowed to return to his home. According to Captain Oliver, Lemmond admitted that he had cut his own arm in an effort to end his life, but ascribed no reason for his act.

Peach-Freezing Industry Placed Into Operation

Big New Plant at Monticello Now in Quantity Production, State Senator Key Reports.

Georgia's newest industry and one which is confidently expected to revolutionize marketing of peaches, the freezing of fresh fruit in the heart of the state's peach-producing section, was placed in operation at midnight Tuesday night, State Senator William H. Key, of Monticello, announced in Atlanta Wednesday.

Tests in the new freezing plant, which have just been completed, were made Tuesday night and success met every demonstration, Mr. Key said. Immediate plant capacity of 10,000 containers of fresh fruit a day is the object of those in charge of the operations.

Georgia peach growers and Georgia farmers generally will be greatly benefited by this new plant, the senator said, "because it will provide them with a greater market, both in scope of distribution and in the length of its duration. In my opinion it means the revolutionization of agriculture in so far as fruit and berries are concerned."

The large freezing plant, which had been under construction for the last two months, is equipped with machinery for instantaneous freezing of peaches and other deciduous fruit at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero. Quantity production has been begun, it was reported in telegraphic advices from Monticello and the entire community was said to be "highly elated" over the initial success of the venture.

The new plant is equipped to handle 10,000 one-pound containers a day and worked at its maximum capacity, on turn out approximately double that number of containers of frozen, ripened, fresh fruit, instantly frozen for shipment in refrigerated cars to warehouses, where it was pointed out the fruit may be held for any length of time and still retain full flavor and freshness.

While the exact process of the new freezing method has not been made public, pending the granting of patents to its inventors, it was announced that it embodies the Frick system, plus a carbon-dioxide fanning process. The success of the development of fruit-preservation through this means, it was explained, lies in the fact that the finely-textured Georgia peach is instantaneously frozen by the small-ice crystal process when subjected to a sudden temperature of 40 degrees below zero.

Mr. Key stated that the organizers of the pioneer plant intend to enlarge the present facilities of the Monticello equipment and later to enter new communities, where peach production exists on a large scale. The organization, to be known as The Polar Products, Inc., he said, not only will furnish an outlet for the yield of Georgia peach growers, but likewise will supply a ready market in the field for the direct purchase of fruit from the growers.

"In order to obtain the best results in preserving peaches," he pointed out, "it is necessary to get the fruit directly from the trees in its mature condition. This cannot be done by markets buying peaches which are grown at a distance. The peach is too delicate and, when ripe is easily bruised and becomes spoiled by shipping, even in ordinary refrigerator cars."

"Under the new process, the full-flavored fruit becomes immediately available to the freezing plant, and the peaches are bought directly from the orchards. The skins are removed by a method similar to that known as the California process. The fruit is then washed and the pits removed. After it is quartered or cut into suitable divisions, it is placed in 'tunnels' in which the temperature is regulated down to 40 degrees below zero. It is instantly frozen by a process which results in small crystallization and therefore guards against collapse of the texture when it is 'defrosted'."

"The Georgia peach grower," Mr. Key concluded, "will now be given a market of greater scope. Instead of having to get his fruit to distribution and sales centers within a period of three weeks, he will have a year or more in which to dispose of ripened fruit. This likewise will be true of strawberries, cantaloupes and other fruits and many vegetables."

CRANE CO. OBSERVES 75TH ANNIVERSARY

Atlanta Employees Go to Tybee Island for Picnic.

In Atlanta and in 152 other cities of the United States veteran employees and officials of Crane Company are preparing to go to Chicago to help celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the company and its growth from a one-man shop to a worldwide organization.

Up from Sao Paulo, Brazil; over from London, England, and Paris, France; down from Canada, officials and veterans are on their way to Chicago.

Three hundred veterans, men with 25 years or more of service, will attend the Chicago celebration. There are 700 more of these veterans in Chicago. Officials, branch managers and factory heads will be present, too, from all over the world.

In Atlanta employees who do not go to Chicago will picnic at Tybee Island today. The day has been declared a holiday by the company, and picnics will be held simultaneously in the 196 cities throughout the world where the company has branches and offices.

The event that will thus be celebrated is a characteristic American industrial romance. In 1861 a young man of 23 heeded the advice of the day—"go west, young man"—and migrated from New Jersey to Chicago. There, in a corner of his uncle's lumber yard, he built a little building with his own hands that looked like nothing so much as a modified log cabin. In it, on July 4, 1865, he made his own first crane. The man was R. T. Crane, founder of Crane Company.

Now the business that he founded employs more than 20,000 people. It has nine factories, covering 375 acres of land in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and France. It manufactures more than 33,000 items—plumbing and heating materials and industrial valves and fittings that have revolutionized sanitary conditions in American homes, that have made possible the great American cities without plagues, that have enabled other industries to work out thousands of new, more economical, more efficient processes.

R. T. Crane, Jr., son of the founder and president of the company, will be present as the host.

While exact figures on the net amount secured for the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's milk fund were not available, the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Masonic Club, held Wednesday at the Piedmont hotel, was devoted to a recapitulation of the results obtained by the benefit kiddie revue given last week at Loew's Capitol theater for the fund. It was reported that the total collected was highly satisfactory, enough to provide ample milk for all inmates of the hospital for a year.

Given under the auspices of the Masonic Club, and with girls of the Pi Pi sorority soliciting contributions in the theater lobby, the revue, "Towtown," with more than 100 Atlanta children in its cast, was declared the finest thing of its kind ever seen here. The Pi Pi girls were guests of the club at the Wednesday luncheon.

On behalf of the club, Lionel H. Keene, division manager for Loew's, Inc., presented the sorority with a silver vase as a mark of appreciation for its unselfish work. Thanks of the club was voiced by many speakers to the child performers, their parents, the personnel of Loew's, Inc., the contributors to the milk fund and all who had any part in the success of the undertaking.

Dr. Claude N. Hughes, chairman of the special milk fund committee, announced the approximate financial result and promised exact net figures at next week's luncheon.

Entertainment features Wednesday included saxophone solos by Touris Dunbar, a recitation by Norman Anderson and piano solo by Charles Thompson.

Atlanta headquarters of former Senator E. D. Rivers, candidate for the governorship, announced Wednesday that he would speak at Shellman, in Randolph county, on the afternoon of July 4, in addition to his already announced speech in the morning of the same day at Fitzgerald.

It was stated at the headquarters that more than 30 invitations for Senator Rivers to speak on the Fourth had been received and that the invitations from Fitzgerald and Shellman were accepted as they were the first two to be received.

The annual celebration at Fitzgerald has grown to be one of the biggest affairs in the state on July 4 and a record crowd is expected to be present to witness this year's events, which include ball games and a monster barbecue. Senator Rivers will be the principal speaker, his address being slated for 11 o'clock in the morning. The speech at Shellman will be delivered to a large crowd which is expected to attend a Woodmen of the World celebration.

Immediately after these two speeches Senator Rivers will start an intensive speaking campaign, during which he will deliver at least 150 addresses.

Securities Petition To Be Heard July 9

The petition of the Georgia Power Company for approval of securities necessary to carry out its merger agreement with the Columbus Electric and Power Company has been set for hearing on July 9 by the Georgia Public Service Commission.

The Georgia Power Company has requested permission to issue the requisite number of shares of stock of the new consolidated company to carry out the exchange of stock of the constituent Georgia Power Company and the Columbus Electric and Power Company. All of the new $6 preferred, second preferred and common stock, if approved, will be used to convert an equal number of shares of stock of the same classes in the constituent company to shares in the present consolidation.

The plan calls for the cancellation of 292,703 shares of the common stock of the Columbus company. There will be a net reduction of 284,018 shares in the total outstanding capital stock of the consolidated company, as compared with the total combined shares of the two companies.

Shining lights of the synchronized traffic signal system of Atlanta today will leave no excuse on the part of motorists that they were unable to see the signals when arrested for violation of the warnings, it was announced Wednesday by Pat Hendricks, superintendent of electrical affairs of Atlanta.

Mr. Hendricks has had a corps of workmen busy for the past two days cleaning the lamps, and the job will be completed today.

U. S. Steel Common Weathers Selling Attack

The holiday shut-downs of many plants would "promote the liquidation of manufactured goods in stock and clear the way for fresh purchases of materials." The periodical also reported that resistance to price pressure was becoming more determined and noted "a growing relief that the market is scraping bottom."

American metal markets said that with the general rate of ingot production down to an average of about 60 per cent for the first half of July, the steel market was probably "all out."

It added the qualification that there probably remained a decline in the open market on bars, shapes and plates, "but should that occur it would be by way of assimilation and would leave the market in better shape than of late."

Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Professionals had the stock market all to themselves today, but found it hard to keep busy. Trading slumped to the smallest volume in two years, totaling only 1,231,000 shares, representing more or less routine short covering and profit-taking.

The apathy was laid at the door of the impending holiday; in fact, many operators had already left town for an extended celebration, and the floor traders furnished a large percentage of the day's business.

After opening a little higher, the market ran into selling which centered on United States Steel. When that stock refused to break below yesterday's close, traders were satisfied to take a conservative position and a covering movement began throughout the day.

Under this influence prices rose consistently until late in the afternoon when profit-taking reduced the improvement, leaving net gains of 1 to 2 points in many active shares.

Foreign currencies were stronger.

Only a few stocks got out of the day's narrow price range. Industrial Rayon closed 1 1/2 points higher, Eastman Kodak, J. L. Case and Allied Chemical, A. Simmons were heavy, touching a new low in the foreign and closing off 2 points.

Net gains of one to two points were made by American Telephone, United States Steel, Atchafalpa, Consolidated Gas, North American, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sears-Roebuck and Southern Pacific.

Reports that the Spanish government was contemplating a return to the gold basis rallied the peseta sharply. Sterling cables advanced 3-16.

Stock Market by Telegraph.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The stock market was quiet today, mainly due to lack of sales. Hence the tone was steady to firm throughout as shorts and raffish broke were bidding. The market ignored the early weakness in other markets and was helped toward the close by the great strength in wheat and the rally in cotton.

Old contracts closed 10 points higher to 10 points lower and new contracts 3 to 10 points higher. The market was a little higher, but not as high as the old contracts. Crude oil was 7 1/2 cents higher. The market was a little higher, but not as high as the old contracts. Crude oil was 7 1/2 cents higher.

SPOTS IRREGULAR AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, July 2.—(P)—The cotton market was comparative quiet today with a few fluctuations within a moderate range. Owing to unfavorable cables and beneficial rains in the central belt, the market opened lower. Prices needed 12 to 13 points and lost 2 points additional of a more favorable construction of the weekly weather and crop summary than looked for.

Later there was a rally on shorts covering in advance of the Independence Day holidays and the government average report as well as more favorable news from the cotton belt. The advance was 10 to 12 points from the lows. The market continued to advance in late trading on urgent short covering and a scarcity of contracts. A firmer stock market may also have been a factor. Active months made new highs right at the end and the market closed steady at net unchanged to 9 points down for the day.

Stock Market Probe Delayed Until Fall

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(P)—Senate advisers today said the investigation of the stock market and national banking system would not be started until fall.

Senator Charles McNary, Democrat, Virginia, heads the committee which was ordered several weeks ago to study the banking situation. He said he would proceed with the original program to begin the hearings next fall.

There was agitation recently among administration house leaders for inquiry into the cause of the recent decline of prices on the stock exchange after the signing of the tariff bill by President Hoover.

However, nothing came of it. The White House today authorized a denial of published statements that President Hoover had ordered an inquiry into the stock market. It was said Mr. Hoover had not been consulted about the proposed investigation.

Gainesville Aerial Program Will Attract Many Fliers

Elaborate Two-Day Schedule Arranged in Conjunction With Convention of American Legion.

Three army Douglas observation planes from Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., swooping low in formation over Alta Vista cemetery, on the outskirts of Gainesville, to form an aerial escort into the city for Major General Frank B. McCoy, commanding general of the Fourth Corps Area, at 10 o'clock this morning will perform the first maneuver in an elaborate two-day program of air events, beginning Friday afternoon. The aviation meet will be an outstanding feature of Gainesville's convention of the Georgia department of the American Legion, July 3, 4, and 5, at which General McCoy will be an honored guest. Gainesville's new and improved airport will be dedicated during the two days of races.

The fourth area chief, who will motor to the scene of the meeting from his headquarters at Fort McPherson, with members of his staff, also will be met at the picturesque cemetery, at Gainesville's city limits, by automobiles bearing members of the city's American Legion convention and air meet committees.

The three Douglas planes from Maxwell, which have been designated by General McCoy to take part in Gainesville's two-day program, are expected to be joined by other service ships before the meet draws to a close. Planes from the 100th observation squadron of the Tennessee national guard, at Nashville, the 106th observation squadron of the Alabama national guard, at Birmingham, and from the naval air station at Pensacola have been invited to be on hand and to take part in the several service ship events for which trophies will be awarded. Lieutenant Asst. noted army stunt flier, already has announced his intention of flying to the meet in a Curtiss Hawk.

Parachute Jumps.

In addition to the conventional race events, which are slated to attract a large group of fliers from Georgia and neighboring states, several parachute jumps will be put on for the entertainment of the crowd. Private William E. Conner, of Maxwell field, who is to reach Gainesville today in one of the Douglas's, is down for delayed jumps on both days of the meet. Bonnie Rowe and Rex Flock, both widely known chute artists, also are scheduled for exhibitions.

From Atlanta's standpoint, one of the most interesting events on the program will be the Atlanta-to-Gainesville race, which will be started by J. H. Gray, chief field manager, promptly at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Honors in this event, for which prizes of $100, $50 and $25 are to be offered, are expected to be closely contested for by George Shealy, flying a special low-wing monoplane, manufactured by Wedell-Williams, at Patterson, Pa., which is capable of a high speed of 105 miles an hour; Doug Davis, flying a Travel Air custom-built speed job, a biplane powered with a 100-horsepower engine of 225 horsepower and equipped with a conventional N. A. C. cowling, and Beeler Blivins, of the Helvins Aircraft Corporation, flying a G. A. Candler's plane, a high speed, streamlined monoplane with a top speed in the neighborhood of 102 miles an hour.

Others To Go.

Other Candler field airmen who are slated to line up for the starter's gun are Joe or Hugh Duckworth, of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service, flying a J-6 Travel Air monoplane; G. A. Cutrell, of the department of commerce, in a Verville air coach; John G. Gill and possibly others. Georgia aviators, including Jimmy Krouskop, of Macon; Bill Cummings and Bob Stroop, of Rome, have signified their intention of taking part in the program and others undoubtedly will drift in before the two-day festivities are brought to a conclusion.

The race will be in charge of a Gainesville aviation committee composed of E. E. Kimbrough, Jr., F. M. Johnson, W. T. Lipscomb, Steve Canada, E. C. Brannan, Fred Roark, E. Ward and J. E. Redwine, Jr., D. S. Denton, city manager, will be in charge of the airport.

The judges will be Colonel F. S. L. Price, United States army, and Charles A. Collier, and the timekeeper will be Hughes Spalding, all of Atlanta.

Julius Spier, 73, of 565 Ashby street, S. W., prominent fraternal order worker and proprietor of a cleaning and pressing establishment on Third street near Spier, died at a private hospital shortly after 6 o'clock

JULIUS SPIER.

Wednesday night from injuries suffered when struck down by an automobile at the corner of Third and West Peachtree streets Tuesday afternoon.

The car that struck Spier is alleged to have been driven by Albert Wallace, of 212 Clifton road. Wallace, witnesses said, sped away from the scene of the accident, but W. A. Evans, of 604 West Peachtree street, gave chase in his own car and brought him back to face officers.

Wallace was held on charges of drunkenness and reckless driving. He was held without bond and police officials Wednesday night, upon hearing of the death of Mr. Spier, stated that they would change the charge against him today to that of murder.

Mr. Spier was a leader in affairs of the Masons, Old Fellows, Red Men and Macabees for nearly 35 years and had held office in all four of them at the same time. Twice he had passed through a public installation of officers of Cherokee Tribe No. 1 of the Redmen, of which he was chairman of the entertainment committee and the newly elected prophet. He was a past officer of the Macabees and had been honored by that order upon numerous occasions. Last year he was one of the Georgia representatives to the international convention in Detroit.

Mr. Spier came to Atlanta from Chicago about 45 years ago and was the first man to engage in making overalls in this part of the country. For many years he was superintendent of the old Everett-Ridley-Ragan Company.

Mr. Spier is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Sanson and Miss Sara Frances Spier; four sons, J. C. M. K., J. B. and C. E. Spier, and eight grandchildren.

Man's Act of Mercy Nets Him $60,000

ORANGE, Cal., July 2.—(AP)—An act of mercy he performed under hail of machine gun and shell fire lived on in memory, P. E. Bingham learned today when he inherited, in a one-fifth of a $300,000 estate in France.

Bingham, lieutenant in the sixteenth infantry, during the World War, once advanced shoulder to shoulder with a regiment of Poilus.

Noting a young Frenchman wounded and unable to move, Bingham carried him to a dressing station, learned his name was Renault, wished him good luck and hurried to overtake his buddies.

News that the French soldier's father had named him an heir was the American's first word of Renault since.

Fight Against Fire At Grady Is Lauded

Praise of the efficient and effective manner in which the Atlanta fire department battled the blaze and probably averted a catastrophe when the negro unit of Grady hospital caught fire several days ago was given Wednesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta board of firemasters.

FORMER ATLANTA MAN TAKES LIFE BY HANGING

Matthew J. Yarbrough, Jr., Was Automobile Salesman in Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 2.—(AP)—Matthew Joel Yarbrough, Jr., 29, automobile salesman, hanged himself today after having worried for several days over a threatening note.

Yarbrough, who came here last January from Atlanta, had told acquaintances that several nights ago he left his automobile and went into a soft drink stand. On returning he found an unsigned note on the seat of the machine that said: "You had better watch out; we are going to take you for a ride."

Noah Beck, an accountant for the automobile agency, said that Yarbrough came to his home last night, showed him the note, and they discussed the matter, and while Yarbrough seemed worried, he also speculated on the possibility that it might be some one's idea of a joke.

Yarbrough left the house apparently in good spirits, but did not go to his own apartment, and this morning William Humphrey, a negro porter, found his body. He had placed a four-by-four scantling across the top of two lockers in a back room at the agency's showrooms and hanged himself from it. A bottle of poison lay nearby, but he apparently had not taken any. Coroner Carter decided it was a case of suicide.

His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Yarbrough, has been visiting for several weeks with a sister in Jackson, Miss., and letters found indicated no domestic or financial trouble. Their son Richard, 7, is with Mrs. Yarbrough.

Matthew Joel Yarbrough, who committed suicide in Louisville through fear of being "taken for a ride," was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Yarbrough, of 277 Moreland avenue, S. E. He was born in Atlanta and was graduated from the local public schools. He formerly was in the employ of the White Motor Company here, which he left in January this year to assume a similar position with a Louisville automobile concern.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow and 7-year-old son, at present in Jackson, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Covington, of Decatur, and Mrs. Phil McMahon, of Charlotte, North Carolina.

B. S. EICH'S PARENTS VISIT HIM IN PRISON

ANNISTON, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—B. S. Eich, ice wagon driver, held without charges pending outcome of wounds he inflicted on his divorced wife yesterday, was visited today by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Eich, of Atlanta, and a brother-in-law.

What transpired at the meeting was not divulged, except that officers said the parents had warned their son not to talk about his case, particularly to newspapermen. They also announced that counsel would be retained.

Meanwhile physicians said that Mrs. Eich, 24, who divorced her husband two weeks ago, stood a good chance to recover unless complications developed.

Eich shot his wife six times yesterday at the home of a neighbor, then surrendered to authorities, declining to talk other than to say domestic difficulties had caused his act.

COLUMBIA, Tenn., July 2.—The wedding of Miss Katherine Parsons, daughter of Mrs. O. B. Parsons, and Robert W. Hardin, of Nashville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hardin, of Atlanta, took place Saturday at 4 o'clock. Rev. C. E. Crafton performed the ceremony at Garden Street Presbyterian church.

A musical program was given by Miss Bertha Westall, organist; Mrs. Stuart Stephenson, violinist; Miss Christine Lamb, of Nashville, contralto; Miss Mary Morgan, of Nashville, soprano.

Miss Alice Parsons, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Frances Hardin, of Atlanta, was bridesmaid. L. S. Hardin, of Atlanta, was groomsmen and the ushers included Clifford Parsons, L. Z. Turpin, C. M. Darden and Myrtle Reese, of Nashville. Ira Hardin served as his brother's best man.

The bride who entered with her brother, Erwin E. Parsons, of Jacksonville, Fla., was lovely in her bridal robe of white georgette, fashioned with long flared skirt of even hem-line. The bodice was trimmed with a lace yoke, narrow in front, and in the back at the point of the décolleté was fastened a soft bow of white taffeta. The yoke extended over the shoulders and the flowing elbow sleeves were of georgette. Her white hair braid had a halo design and she wore long white kid gloves and white more slippers. She carried a chattering bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore costumes in the pastel shades. Miss Parsons was attired in orchid chiffon fashioned with the tight bodice and long full skirt. She wore a picture hat of green hair braid and orchid in front. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of flowers in the Dresden shades, tied with green tulle. Miss Parsons wore sky blue chiffon with a pink taffeta bow trimming. Her hat was of pink hair braid and her slippers harmonized with her costume. She carried a Dresden bouquet tied with pink tulle.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Hardin left for an extended trip to Virginia and will also visit in Atlanta. For motoring the bride wore a tailored ensemble of blue flat crepe trimmed with two tones of tan and hat of matching shade. On their return to Nashville they will be located in their new home in Belle Meade Park.

Why Uncle Sam Likes Ice Cream

If you want to see a hungry American, you should see one on a hot day served with a dish of ice cream, in the dining-room of a European hotel.

That's when he grows really patriotic—wishes he had never left home. He gets enough ice cream to about fill a dessert spoon once.

Uncle Sam really likes ice cream—has a growing and healthful appetite for what his doctors have discovered to be the finest dessert and health-food combined ever invented.

One very special reason for his growing appetite is because he is served at the Nation's capital, and throughout Southern Dairies territory, with that "Cream of the South" known as

The Velvet Kind ICE CREAM

Its even and constant high quality is recognized by those most competent to judge. Made in immaculate plants and by an efficient personnel, of pure, rich cream and milk—every ingredient of the highest grade. The Velvet Kind Ice Cream is recommended not only by diet specialists and health authorities, but by its unequalled excellence and deliciously smooth texture.

It goes way beyond health requirements and fully meets those of the epicure.

When does Uncle Sam like it most? Before the Fourth, after the Fourth, and right bang on the Fourth of July! Show your patriotism with at least one pint package of The Velvet Kind Ice Cream. The special for the Fourth holidays is rich, creamy FRESH PEACH!

Sleep Soundly

Smile in Your Dream!

This pretty nurse to say "good-night" is undoubtedly a help—not only because of her good-night smile, but because she brings a glass of Welch's. Taken just before retiring, this pure juice of luscious Concord grapes quickly leads to restful slumber. While you sleep, it richly nourishes and mineral salts are readily absorbed and quickly assimilated into the blood-stream. They restore your broken-down body-tissues, build you up. Make this two-weeks test. Each night before retiring, sip a large glass of Welch's—adding one-third water, if you like. Before long you'll find yourself sleeping like a top and waking up feeling like a million dollars! Try it also as a breakfast drink. Several portions to the pint make it the most temptingly delicious so-called "diet drink" recommended by physicians, and on the diet-list of leading hospitals.

SECKATARY HAWKINS

YOU FELLOWS DON'T REALIZE THE DANGER YOU ARE RUNNING ON THIS ISLAND. THAT THREE-EYED APE—

WE ARE PREPARED. THIS ISLAND IS GUARANTEED TO KILL ANYTHING UP TO AN ELEPHANT—

Eckerson had become quite chummy with the stranger who had swum the river to our camp and who had turned out to be the father of our new club member, Herman the fiddler, who had brought much mystery with him.

The Legend of the Ape

OUT THIS APE IS BELIEVED TO BE A SACRED ANIMAL. THE PEOPLE WHO OWN IT BELIEVE IT CANNOT DIE—

Now they were discussing the latest mystery that had appeared on the island where we boys were making our summer camp. It seemed as if HERMAN'S FATHER HAD WHISPERED TO ECKERSON SOMETHING THAT MADE OUR DETECTIVE HAPPY.

Beauty Fashions

I CAN'T BELIEVE IT MYSELF. BUT I'VE SEEN IT SHOT AND KNIFE, AND YET IT LIVES.

I GUESSED AT ONCE THAT THE REASON HERMAN'S FATHER DID NOT STAY WITH HIS BOY WAS BECAUSE OF SOME SECRET WORK HE WAS DOING, WHICH TOOK HIM INTO DANGEROUS PLACES, WHERE HE WOULD NOT WANT HERMAN TO FOLLOW HIM.

By Robert Franc Schulkers

WHAT WOULD HAVE KILLED ORDINARY ANIMALS NEVER HAS STOPPED THIS THREE-EYED TERROR. THE PEOPLE WHO KNOW IT BELIEVE IT COMES BACK TO LIFE EACH TIME IT IS KILLED.

THE TERROR IN THE TREETOPS ON THIS ISLAND WAS A THREE-EYED APE. ECKERSON NOT ONLY REFUSED TO BELIEVE IN A THING WITH THREE-EYES, BUT HE WAS NOW LOUDLY REFUSING TO BELIEVE THE STORY THAT THE THING COULD NOT DIE.

Nowhere could Peter see anything of Muskrat. Jerry was sure to be seen; Muskrat wasn't to be seen; none of the little Muskrats were to be seen. After a while Peter began to wonder where they were. It was just such a night as Muskrat loved. Could it be that something had happened to one or more of the family Obedience without delay. You'll find to be the muskrat way. —Jerry Muskrat.

Peter Rabbit spent a lot of time around the Smiling Pool. You see, Peter was greatly interested in the school there, for really there was a school in the Smiling Pool. There were two teachers—Jerry Muskrat and Peter. Peter was a little Muskrat, and Jerry was a little Muskrat. They went to that school. Of course, they didn't call it a school. But after all any place where you learn lessons is a school and those little Muskrats were being taught lessons every day.

It was surprising how fast they grew. It was quite necessary that they learn as fast as they grew. Otherwise they would become grown up without being really fitted to take care of themselves. Peter, and then watching got so that he understood some of the signals. He was over there just at dusk one evening. Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had gone to bed behind the Purple Hills and the Black Shadows had crept across the Green Meadows and over the Smiling Pool. It was all very calm and quiet and shadowy there. Presently the first little star came and the rest were in hiding? Peter tried to be patient. However, patience does not hold out forever and at last Peter saw a light. Inside he was saying, "That was Hooty the Owl. Jerry Muskrat must have seen him and gave the signal down here in the Laughing Brook. Mrs. Muskrat over there behind the Big Rock heard the signal and passed it along. The nine children over there in the bulrushes heard her and each passed the signal along by the time Hooty the Owl got up here every little Muskrat was hidden."

All this Peter said to himself in a taking the greatest care not to move so much as a whisker or to make a sound of any kind. You see, Peter knows all about the wonderful

JIM THE CONQUEROR

By PETER B. KYNE

TENTH INSTALLMENT.

The state, considering this, discovered that the expense of 50 miles of fence would not be warranted on the hypothesis that any revenue would subsequently accrue by reason of the sale of grazing permits on the fenced lands of the state, since, with the Higuene family controlling all the waterways and water holes, no man would be foolish enough to seek a grazing permit! Pending the adjustment of this ancient dispute, therefore, the matter slumbered officially at Austin, the state capital, and Don Miguel Jaime Higuene neglected to fence his fee lands contiguous to the water; also he neglected to supply herders to confine his cattle to his fee lands, where they wandered over the state lands at will!

Of this situation wily old Tom Antrim had decided to take advantage. In ordinary years he would not have risked the adventure, since nobody knew better than he that a dispute over water and grass in the country is always tantamount to an adventure. But his own range had been grazed over; it had been a dry year in his part of the country, he had the sheep on his hands, they were not ready for market, nor was he ready to accept the market price for unmarketable sheep. He had to maintain them, and in his dilemma he turned quite naturally to one of the earliest laws of human nature, to wit, that a desperate man is justified in taking desperate measures.

He was familiar with the law of trespass. If the owner of fee lands did not fence them, he could not prosecute successfully the owner of loose live stock that wandered thereon! And Don Jaime Higuene could not afford to fence the small acreage around springs and water-holes and the narrow forty-acre strips along watercourses, some of which went dry in the summer. If he did his own live stock could not get in for water. Of course, an Antrim knew, Don Jaime might have counter-attacked by scattering quantities of salt-peter on the grass of his fee lands. They were on them if he desired. Salt-peter will not hurt cattle, but it kills sheep. However, when Antrim figured the area upon which his antagonist would have to scatter sufficient salt-peter to be a menace, he knew Don Jaime would never resort to this expedient.

It would require too much salt-peter and too great a labor bill to scatter it and maintain it in sufficient quantities to do its work.

Therefore, Antrim reasoned, he ran but one risk, and that was a battle to keep his sheep, not from trespassing on unfenced lands, but from drinking Don Jaime's water. However, there were many water-holes and many water-courses to guard, and perhaps Don Jaime would not guard them all; perhaps if Antrim appeared with a strong armed guard of herders Don Jaime would not force the issue. Under the circumstances Tom Antrim decided to accept the risks, because the stakes, if he won, were high. He was an arrogant man and because of Don Jaime's Castilian blood (Antrim referred to it as Mexican blood, which predicated a mixture of Indians) he had a contempt for the fighting qualities of the Higuene family. He had declared, often in public, that Don Jaime was too yellow to buck a white man.

All these things Don Jaime Miguel Higuene considered as he gazed over the country that, by hook and crook, had been sacred to four generations of his people. He knew, by one real advantage, one legal right, that his fee lands were unfenced and hence a suit for trespass could not lie, but he did have the right to drive trespassing live stock off his fee lands before they should have an opportunity to drink. If he held off long enough they would perish of thirst, and if while driving them off he and his men were attacked by the owners of the trespassing live stock they would be clearly within their legal rights if they defended themselves.

Don Jaime smiled. "Thrice doubly armed is he whose cause is just," he colloquially said. "Well, Son of Antrim has the surprise of his life coming to him this evening. He's staked everything on a lone ace—and I'm going to take the trick with a trump device."

He decided to bear off to the right and give the sheep and their herders a wide berth, for he had no intention of coming to grips with the enemy anywhere except on his own lands and in defense of his inalienable rights. So he rode along the hogback at a walk for half a mile and then turned down a long draw to the valley below, through which the white road rolled in defense of his inalienable rights. At the mouth of the draw he paused and dismounted, for the long trip downhill had revealed the fact that his saddle cinch was loose; it had slipped out over the horse's withers.

Don Jaime removed saddle and blanket, saw that there were no wrinkles in the blanket, and adjusted it again to the horse's back. He was in the act of swinging the heavy stock saddle up onto the animal when something ripped across his breast. He felt a gentle plucking of his shirt, experienced a feeling that he had been burned. Then the crashing sound of a rifle echoed through the draw.

The thought flashed through Don Jaime's agile brain, "Tom Antrim had another trump. He's playing it."

With a savage wrench he jerked Ken Hobart's rifle clear of the hoot, dropped the saddle and leaped for the brush with the alacrity of a frightened rabbit. A fusillade of bullets followed him, but he could not find the shelter of the reverse slope of the left of the two spurs which formed the draw, he had been hit three times, the last wound dropping him headlong on his face.

The paralysis was but momentary, however. He rolled a couple of times, half rose, lurched forward and rolled again. When he reached "dead" ground he rushed a few seconds, then on his hands and knees, crawled around the toe of the spur; presently he got to his feet and limped slowly and painfully up the hill 50 yards, got down on his hands and knees, and with his body as close to the earth as possible crawled back through the low sage over the spur toward the draw. When he could look down into the draw again he stretched out and brought his rifle to the ready. He waited.

Presently, up the hillside across the draw he saw a bush move slightly. There was not a breath of wind, so Don Jaime concentrated his attention on that bush. It moved again, but Don Jaime could see nothing. So, deciding to feel for what was there while yet sufficient strength remained to him, he sighted carefully on the center of that bush and fired. Something thrashed in the brush, so Don Jaime continued to shoot until the thrashing ceased.

With the feeling that he had better be sure than sorry he had put 20 bullets into the heart of that bush. Presently, from far up the draw toward the summit a voice floated faintly:

"Don Jaime! It's Ken Hobart!"

"Come down, but be careful," Don Jaime shouted back with all his lungs.

Ken Hobart came down that long draw at a mad gallop and when the thud of hoofs indicated his near presence, Don Jaime managed to stand erect and hail him. The ranger rode into the brush to Don Jaime, who leaped against his horse and clung to the saddle.

"Hurt, my friend?"

"Shot, but not fatally," Don Jaime informed him with a wry smile. "Top of the left shoulder, left bicep and calf of the right hind leg. Also a brand across my chest."

"Where's the other man?"

Don Jaime indicated the spot and then sat down to wait while the ranger rode up to investigate. The ranger's face was gravely humorous when he returned.

"There's a man up there lying on top of a rifle. An oldish man. Looks like Tom Antrim—that is, dressed like him, but you've shot his head practically away and he's unrecognizable. Features quite obliterated."

"While waiting for something or somebody to turn up, I didn't have anything else to do, so I practiced shooting," Don Jaime protested virtuously. "My horse still there?"

Crackers Battle 11 Innings To Beat Bears, 3-2, for 7th Straight

GOTHAM ROARS GREAT WELCOME TO BOB

NEW YORK, July 2.—Luke Appling, Oglethorpe's gift to the Crackers, is on the auction block for next winter. If a deal launched yesterday by R. J. Spiller here does not go awry, Luke will have a chance to show his paces to the New York Yankees in spring training. Spiller visited Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yanks, and laid the deal out on the table. It consisted of the sale of Appling for a fancy price, said to be $35,000, for delivery at the end of the Southern league season. The added condition was that the Yankees send a pitcher at once to Atlanta, a pitcher who could step out and win a few games in the Southern league.

BARROW IMPRESSED. Barrow was impressed. He already had heard of Appling, it seems, and was willing to send a scout to look him over. The scout may look Appling over before the Crackers take the road again. And that's that much.

Appling is the apple of Johnny Dobbs' eye. The Cracker manager believes he has the greatest infield prospect in years in the person of the earnest, vigorous collegian.

The last thing Johnny did before the boss left for New York was to caution him to be firm in demanding a high price plus immediate pitching assistance. The word is that Colonel Spiller was firm as Brooklyn bridge when he laid out the deal to the Yankee business manager.

ADVENTURES OF WERBER. Tagged to the end of the reports of the rain-out Yankee-White Sox game of Tuesday was the short sentence, "Bill Werber, former Duke University infielder, has been released on option to Albany."

That is Chapter II of the adventures of another southern college boy in the major leagues. Rarely do youngsters step from a college diamond to the infield of a major league club and stay there. There is more deep baseball in one inning of a major league game than in a year on the campus.

Werber broke in a week or so ago in a sensational manner with two hits and a series of spectacular chances smartly handled. His first hit put him in place to score on Babe Ruth's twenty-fifth home run. No youngster could have made a more impressive bow in major league spangles.

Yet Bill was too innocent of big time baseball to stay there. His debut merely proved he had the stuff. The Yankees sent him on to Albany for a finishing course. He will be back.

LUKE HAS BETTER CHANCE.

Luke Appling has a better chance of sticking with the Yankees or some other major league club when he gets his call. He is learning now what Bill Werber has been sent to Albany to learn.

Luke is learning how to play for different sorts of pitching and for different batters; he is learning the ins and outs of defensive plays by working alongside a smart second baseman, Jack Sheehan, and he is learning how to hit smart pitching.

Luke is taking his baseball career from the handle end. He is proceeding normally in the business and stands a royal chance of going up next year and staying there.

THE OLD SUNPROOFS. It is a pity that a photograph record could not have been made of Pete Daley's recital of the glories of the old Sunproof Paint baseball club that laid waste the Atlanta amateur leagues 20 years ago.

At least Pete said they did. None in the group had been living in Atlanta at that time and could not dispute when Pete told how the Sunproofs went undefeated to win the city championship.

Harry Harmon was the pitcher and "Bit" Lochridge the catcher. Others whose names I remember were Whitey Mays, Bill Rice, Brown Keene, John Conyers and of course Pete played second base.

"Percy Whiting, who then was writing sports on one of the papers, compared me to Eddie Collins the day we beat one of the mill teams 23 to 0," Pete modestly declared, which statement makes me cautious in putting out any more information on the Sunproofs.

FUN FOR ATLANTA. Now that the roar has gone up and died away hailing the return of Bobby Jones and the demonstration has been filed away in the archives of golf, one is reminded by John Kieran in the New York Times of the story about the complaining man who said:

"This country spends probably $50,000,000 on golf every year. A shameful waste of money." To which the party of the second part responded soothingly: "Yes, but think of all the fun Atlanta gets out of it." Fifty million dollars can't be wrong.

Favorites Victors At Thomasville

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 2.—(AP) Favorites won out in first-round matches in the championship flight of the Fourth of July tournament of the Georgia-Florida Golf league over the Glen Arden course here today.

Two 18-hole matches will be played in all flights tomorrow, and the 36-hole finals will be contested Friday. Large galleries followed several of the first flight matches today. Championship division results today: H. Littleton, Albany, defeated George Flegle, Valdosta, 2 and 1. Bob Wimberly, Thomasville, defeated O. Jack Oliver, Valdosta, 2 and 1. J. Talmage, Albany, defeated R. Aycock, Monticello, 4 and 3. Scottie Severly, Thomasville, defeated Cliff Calley, Tallahassee, 7 and 6. Robert Oliver, Valdosta, lost to George Covens, Valdosta, 2 and 1. John Oliver, Georgia state champion from Valdosta, defeated W. Cherry, Albany, 2 and 2. Max Oliver, Valdosta, defending champion from J. M. Hubert, Quitman, 1 and 6.

First Half Leaders Lose Opening Frays

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 2.—Thomasville and Tallahassee ball teams, which finished the first half of the Six-County league split season in first and second place, respectively, both got licked Tuesday afternoon, the former losing here, 4 to 3, to Valdosta, and Tallahassee being defeated by Bainbridge, 6 to 5.

Three Homers in Row Tie Big League Mark

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Carl Reynolds, left fielder of the Chicago White Sox, equaled the modern major league record for consecutive home runs today by hitting three in as many times at bat in the second Yankee-Chicago game. He cracked one out in the first inning, another in the second and a third in the third. Bobby Lowe, of the Boston Nationals, made the all-time record by hitting four homers in four trips to the plate in one game in 1894.

CRACKERS WIN IN ELEVENTH OVER BEARS, 3-2

Victory Gives Atlanta Seventh Straight; Appling Stars.

By Ralph McGill.

Playing carelessly, Atlanta scrambled around through 11 innings Wednesday afternoon to beat Mobile 3 and 2 and hang on to their position in fourth place.

The Crackers were playing carelessly and facing good pitching. Once they fell a victim of the hidden ball trick. Once again they barely escaped it. Had the Crackers lost that game they would have bitten themselves and died of hydrophobia. They would have been that humiliated.

The Crackers were in a sensitive spot because Chattanooga was beating Nashville and had the Crackers lost they would have slipped back to fifth place.

As it was they maintained their first division berth and are this morning just one-half game behind Birmingham in third place, the Barons having tripped in front of New Orleans.

LUKE TURNS TRICK. It was Luke Appling, the apple of your eye, and yours and yours and yours, who smote in the winning run there in the eleventh when hope had about fled.

He had tripped in the ninth to score Bob Lamotte with the Crackers' first run, they having been a lot of horse collars on the scoreboard through eight innings while Mobile had two runs.

The apple of your eye scored a moment later when Fred Polvogt doubled. And things stayed tied until the eleventh when the game was won.

CRACKERS TRICKED. That ninth saw the Mobile club, unable to hammer in runs, resort to trickery to get Crackers off the bag. It was only John Chapman and a sinister Yeargin who tricked those Crackers.

They dragged out the old moth-eaten, rust-bound hidden ball trick to almost stop the Cracker rally. Only Luke Appling's alert legs prevented John Chapman from catching him off the bag. And Fred Polvogt stroled off second a moment later to be nicked by Yeargin.

The coaches did not see the Mobile men palm the baseballs. Sly John Chapman walked up to the plate to see about Wildboy Thompson's fingers, he having stopped a wild pitch with his raw hand after Appling's triple. And not a soul in the stands or on the field saw him get the ball.

He walked back to his regular position and when he dived for Appling, why the apple of your eye dived for the ball and he threw.

DOBS AMAZED. John Dobbs, who was coaching at third, was positively agast. He admitted the smoothness of the play. "I didn't see him get the ball," he said, "it was a smart trick."

When Polvogt got caught at second Yeargin obtained the ball without anyone seeing him. His play followed the one at first.

Doc O'Brien was busy thumbing Continued on Third Sport Page.

ALL-AMERICAN TENNIS FINALS SET SATURDAY

Tilden, Allison, Helen Wills, Miss Ryan Meet for Two Titles.

By Frank H. King.

Associated Press Staff Writer. WIMBLEDON, England, July 2.—(AP)—America today made sure of winning the British tennis championships in both men's and women's singles by placing Big Bill Tilden, Wilmer Allison, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan in the final round.

Thus the finals for Wimbledon's two most coveted crowns on Saturday will be all-American affairs. No foreign nation ever before has been able to monopolize both singles finals in the history of this tournament which goes back to 1877.

For six years the famous "Musketeers" of France won the Wimbledon crown in the men's division and five of these six times two Frenchmen battled for the honors in the final. But today the American champion, Tilden, defended his old rival, Jean Borotra, by scores of 6-4, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5, to complete the elimination of the French stars begun on Monday when his young countryman, Wilmer Allison, upset the defending titleholder, Henri Cochet.

Allison himself qualified to meet Tilden in the final by stopping his young Davis cup teammate, brawny John Doe, of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-3, 4-6, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, in a thrilling battle.

The day's sensational developments included the collapse of plucky little Cecilie Aussem of Germany, who suffered a badly sprained ankle in the third set of her match with Miss Ryan, and was forced to withdraw, the American winning by default after having taken the first set, 6-3, losing the second, 0-6, and fighting on even terms at 4-4 in the third.

Mrs. Moody, the defending champion, became the other finalist, beating Madame Rene Mathieu, of France, 6-3, 6-2. She is heavily favored to defeat her fellow-Californian, a veteran who has lived in this country so long that she is regarded almost as an English player.

Elliott Bigelow Sold to Missions

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 2.—(AP)—Elliott Bigelow, blustering outfielder for the Southern league hitters two years in succession, has been sold to the Missions club of the Pacific Coast league, Joe Engel announced tonight. Bigelow already is on the way to report to the new owners.

Bigelow, a great natural hitter, but a poor fielder and worse at throwing, was the man needed in the Los Angeles outfield. He is sold to make room for Jimmy Horn, bought from Nashville.

President Engel also announced that the new stadium, erected at a cost of $250,000, would be dedicated with a fitting program August 6. Judge Landis and other baseball officials will attend.

Horton Smith Sets Record in Match

WINCHESTER, Mass., July 2.—(AP)—Horton Smith set up a new record for the rugged Winchester Country Club course here today, shooting a 69 in a four-ball exhibition match with Leo Diegel, his Ryder cup teammate, against Francis Quimet, a Brookline, and George Voigt, New York, members of the victorious American Walker-cup team.

A gallery of 2,000 watched the professionals defeat the amateurs by a 2-and-1 margin.

Quimet had a par round of 72, Diegel shot a 74 and Voigt the 117. Smith's performance shattered the old mark of 70 set several years ago by Clark Hodder, of Braeburn, the former hockey player.

Miami, Temple Plan Indoor Grid Game

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—(AP)—The University of Miami (Fla.) and Temple University will meet in an indoor football game in the auditorium of Convention hall, Atlantic City, on the night of November 8. Earl R. Yeomans, graduate manager of athletics of Temple, announced tonight.

Two other intercollegiate games, Wake Forest of North Carolina and Drake University, of Iowa, are included in Temple's 1930 schedule. Both contests will be played in Philadelphia.

Bambino Injures Hand Fielding Ball

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's triumphant course toward a new home run record received a setback today when the Babe attempted a too ambitious fielding stunt in the second game between the Yankees and a finger which may keep him out of the game for some time.

Ruth attempted to catch the second of three home runs hit by Carl Reynolds as it sailed into the right field bleachers just above the screen and crashed into the netting. The second finger of his left hand was caught in the wire and the nail was torn off.

Barring the possibility of infection, the Babe probably will be kept out of action for several days and his ability to swing his mighty bat may be hampered for an even longer time.

Narlesky Released To Indianapolis

BOSTON, July 2.—(AP)—Bill Narlesky, utility infielder with the Boston Red Sox for the past two seasons, today was released outright to the Indianapolis club of the American association.

Holiday Game

Hapeville and Smyrna have scheduled a game for 3 o'clock, July 4, at Almond Park.

"Pa" Stribling, at the right, famous manager and father of W. L. (Young) Stribling, is shown in conference with Max Abelson, local promoter, concerning an Atlanta fight for W. L. when the two met Wednesday.

"Pa" was on his way to New York, where he will be joined Friday by W. L. They sail Friday night for England and the fight with Phil Scott on July 28. Max Abelson, who has handled all of W. L.'s fights here, is going over dates trying to find a spot for an Atlanta fight, featuring W. L. this fall.

'Pa' Stribling Confident W. L. Will Beat Scott

Striblings on Way to England For Bout; Do Not Expect Postponement.

By Ralph McGill.

"Pa" Stribling, dapper, brisk and debonair as ever, halted in Atlanta Wednesday morning before entraining at noon for New York.

"I think we will hustle back to this country as soon as the Phil Scott fight is done with," he said, "because I want to get W. L. busy at work in preparation for the championship fight I think we'll get."

Stribling, who will be in Atlanta for a short time today en route to join his father in New York, feels that his hand is well again.

The hand and wrist, injured in training for the Von Porat fight, has been in a plaster cast since the fight. It has not been removed and will not be until it has been examined in New York Friday.

"W. L. thinks the hand is all right," he said. "He can move his fingers and can punch the hand against his body and doesn't feel any pain. Of course we won't know until the cast is taken off but we hope the hand is all right."

Woco Pep and Tolene never fail to measure up to the greatest demands made upon them in all tests where speed, stamina and economy are the chief factors which go to make a success of any record-breaking trail. For every day driving they are the most dependable of all. Try them on your trip over the glorious Fourth and you'll find new thrills and new comforts in motoring which will make you issue your own declaration of independence of inferior products forever.

Robins Pick Up Full Game To Regain Percentage Tie for Top

CUBS, LOSING, KEEP LAURELS BY HALF GAME

Cards Lose as Giants Help Robins—Braves Trim Bucs.

Brooklyn defeated St. Louis, 6 to 5, Wednesday, while Chicago was losing to New York, 9 to 8, and the Robins regained a percentage tie for the National league lead, although the Cubs have a half-game advantage in the win column.

Joe Genewick checked a rally in the ninth after the Cubs had scored two runs and filled the bases with two out, to give the Giants a victory. Nelson's wild throw to center field and his wild pitch gave the Giants three runs in the first half of the inning.

The Cubs had jumped away to an early lead by scoring five times in the first, but the Giants tied the count in the fourth, mainly through Jim Chaplin's home run with two on, and went into the final inning with the count tied at 6-6.

Brooklyn took an early lead over St. Louis and held it to the finish, despite a two-run Cardinal rally in the ninth. Phelps pitched the entire game for the Robins and never was in danger until the ninth.

Boston defeated Pittsburgh, 6 to 4, in the only other National league game and regained possession of fifth place, dropping the Pirates to sixth. The Braves bunched hits with a Pirate error to clinch the game with a three-run assault in the fifth.

SEVEN EVENTS ON RACE CARD

Seven big auto race events and a special thriller will mark the July 4 auto races at Lakewood park Friday afternoon, starting at 3 p. m., it was announced by Manager Oscar Mills Wednesday.

Others who will race in the annual Independence Day classic are Sam Santoro, Dudge Wallace, Shano Fitzgerald, Leo Young, Jimmy Trainor, Wesley Argue, Junior Bracken, Jack Waller, Max Hoffman and Jack Johnson.

In the first race of the day, a heavy car race, Jack Johnson, the famous veteran, the Georgia boy who is southern mile track champion, last year's victor, Bracken, Argue, Santoro and any other post-entry from the south. Roy Bell, Daytona Beach, is expected in this event. Haugdahl is not eligible.

GERMAN STAR BEATS HAMM IN SPECIALTY

Ex-Tech Star Is Second as Americans Invade Cologne.

COLOGNE, Germany, July 2.—(AP)—America's invading track team made an impressive showing in its first European appearance today, winning five of the six events in which it competed.

The unexpected failure of Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech's star broad jumper, to win his specialty prevented the Americans from making a clean sweep. Hamm failed by one-half inch to defeat Dohrmann, of Germany, who leaped 7.22 meters, or 23 feet 8.14 inches. The Georgian cleared 7.21 meters, or 23 feet 7.52 inches.

First places went to George Bullwinkle, crack half-mile of the College of the City of New York; Tom Warne, Northwestern's premier pole vaulter; Steven Anderson, Washington's great hurdler; Pete Bowen, Pittsburgh's star quarter-mile, and the 400-meter relay team.

Bullwinkle covered the 800 meters in the good time of 1:52.8 to defeat Danz and Sahn, of Germany. In the pole vault, Warne cleared four meters, or 13 feet 1.1-2 inches, more than a foot higher than the height made by Wegener, of Germany.

Bowen stepped the 400 meters in the fast time of 48.7-10 seconds, while Anderson was caught in 14.6-10 seconds in the 100-meter high hurdles. The relay team covered the 400 meters in 42.4-10 seconds.

Doubling in the 100-meter spring, Bowen ran second and Hamm third, the event going to the German Olympic athlete, Lammers, in 10.7 seconds.

Registration for Annual Gathering in Gainesville To Begin at 8 O'Clock This Morning.

Speaks in Gainesville

Dr. Gordon G. Singleton, who made the principal address at the opening of the American Legion auxiliary convention in Gainesville Wednesday.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., July 2.—(AP) The Georgia department of the American Legion will meet here Thursday for three days of fun and business. Legion officials said Wednesday they expected 5,000 Legionnaires and their wives to attend the annual convention.

Registration will be begun at 8 a. m. Thursday. At 10 a. m. the Legion and its auxiliary—the women's organization—will meet in joint session, and at 2:30 p. m. the Legionnaires will hold a business session.

A torchlight parade from the city park to Alta Vista cemetery will be staged tomorrow night.

The business streets and buildings here have been decorated.

The convention was really opened today with a meeting of the executive committee. The heads of the departments participated in a flag ceremony at which the city was presented a large American flag by the local auxiliary. The principal address was delivered by Mrs. James Maddox, president of the Georgia department of the auxiliary.

Features of Program.

The torchlight parade Wednesday night and the terrapin races Friday will be features of the convention. Ten bands will march in the parade. The terrapin race will be the first ever staged east of the Mississippi river and every Legionnaire is expected to have an entry.

Major-General Frank McCoy, commanding officer of the fourth corps area, will be the principal speaker during the convention. His first speech will be on "Preparedness." Robert Troutman, Atlanta, lawyer, and other well-known Georgians also will deliver speeches at the various sessions.

Gainesville's new airport will be opened during the convention with air races.

Entertained by Kiwanians.

The first guests of the convention were first Wednesday when state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary were guests of the local Kiwanis Club at their regular noonday lunch. Those present were Mrs. James Maddox, Rome, president of Georgia department of the auxiliary; Mrs. Harvey E. Vass, Winston-Salem, national vice president; Mrs. R. L. Basil Stock, bridge, past state commander, and Louis Moore, of Thomasville, also past state commander, were introduced. Mr. Simon's address on "The Aims and Object of the Legion" featured the meeting.

SAVANNAH CUTTER NAMED FLAGSHIP

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 2.—(AP) The United States coast guard cutter Yamacraw, with Savannah as its home port, has been designated as flagship for a fleet of eight boats now under construction for the coast guard service.

SAVANNAH WILL BE PERMANENT BASE FOR THE FLEET.

The new vessels will be of the cabin cruiser type and will combine speed with sea worthiness. Each craft will be capable of a speed of 40 miles per hour. Captain Leroy Reinburg, commander of the Yamacraw, said he expected the new boats to reach Savannah about the middle of August. They are being built at coast guard bases in the north.

Marble Lamb Stolen From Child's Grave In Griffin Cemetery.

GRiffin, Ga., July 2.—(AP) And now the meanest person in the world has appeared in Griffin and stolen a marble lamb from the grave of little John Robert Moulder.

When John was 7 he won $3.50 as a prize in a recitation contest at his school. He put the money in a bank "until I am 21."

He died the same year. That was six years ago.

His father took the $3.50 and applied it to a marble lamb for the grave. His schoolmates kept the symbol clean and decorated the grave regularly with flowers.

They discovered the lamb had been stolen and notified John's parents. An appeal to the thief to "please bring it back at night as you took it" was broadcast.

GAME LAW VIOLATORS FINED AT WAYCROSS

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 2.—Seining in fresh water streams of Georgia is a violation of the laws of the state, and authorities of Wayne county have inaugurated a campaign to enforce the law to the letter, so far as possible.

Four defendants arraigned in city court before Judge J. Leo Crawley have entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced to serve six months on the state farm or pay fines of $30 each. They were Nick Summerlin, T. J. Howard, J. H. Howard and R. J. Bryan.

More than a dozen cases involving violations of the fishing laws have been made in Wayne county this season, and the conviction of the first four to face trial indicates that Wayne county has taken a stand as wholeheartedly supporting the fish and game laws of the state. The cases were made by E. R. Aycock, county game warden.

MELON MARKET SHOWS SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 2.—(AP) Today's melon market showed some slight improvement over the unusual depression of the past week. A few cases were loaded today through the south Georgia section and there was a slight demand among buyers here.

Nominal sales were made on the tracks with $80 paid for 30s and smaller grades ranging downward. Though the demand was stronger for the larger melons.

There was also considerable improvement shown in the quality of the melons being loaded today. Growers and buyers feel more hopeful after today's revival.

SECRETARIES TO PLAN STATE CELEBRATION

Preparations for Observance of Georgia's 200th Birthday Will Be Made.

ALBANY, Ga., July 2.—(AP) When the Georgia Association of Commercial Secretaries convene here on July 11-12 in annual convention they will have before them as plan pointing forward observance of the 200th birthday of the state.

J. Ralston Carrill, secretary of the Commercial Chamber of Commerce, has written to B. S. Barker, president of the association, suggesting that plans for celebration of that event be discussed. Mr. Carrill suggested that a better group could be found to bring about a statewide independent organization which could put into action plans for the bicentennial.

Mr. Carrill's letter in full was as follows:

"Allow me to make a suggestion for discussion at our meeting scheduled to take place at Albany, Ga., July 11-12, and that is: 'How can Georgia best prepare to properly observe its bicentennial in 1933?'"

"Long before 1933 happy days will be here again, and radiant prosperity will be enthroned in the Empire State of the South. What can we as representatives of the commercial organization of the state do to mark a great revival of agriculture, commerce and industry of the southeast?"

"Migration from the farms to the cities—and this hasn't affected Georgia—it is possible to be happier and more prosperous on the farms, and that means helping in future markets in this country or abroad for cash crops in addition to cotton. The Industrial Index of this city points out that of Georgia's 161 counties nearly 100 have lost population."

"As a whole, the state has grown; the unofficial tabulation of census returns from all Georgia counties gave the state population of 2,842,280 persons, as compared with 2,842,665 in 1920, but this is an increase of less than 45,000."

"It isn't so much how many folks we have in the state, but whether or not they are happy and prosperous. And it is part of our job to contribute toward this condition of well-being."

"Bringing in new diversified industries will help; paved highways will help; deeper and more dependable waterways with modern cargo carriers will help; the development of air transportation will help; all of these things and many others will help make Georgia the great state it is destined to be."

"By 1933 a great many undertakings now under way will either have come to fruition or will be on the eve of completion. By 1932 we will have great many things to celebrate, and it won't hurt to begin to think of them now."

WIFE SLAYER PLEADS TEMPORARY INSANITY

English Gaskins, Sentenced To Die, Issues Statement in Metter Jail.

METTER, Ga., July 2.—(AP) English Gaskins, who is under sentence of death for the murder of his wife here several months ago, has issued a statement in which he indicates he was not in his right mind when the slaying occurred.

Gaskins was convicted of stabbing his estranged wife to death as they sat in his automobile in front of her brother's house. After throwing her body from the car, he drove away, but was captured several days later.

"I want the people of Chandler county to ask themselves this question," the signed statement said. "Would I take the life of my wife, the one I loved best of all, when I was in my right mind and had control of myself? Could I do that?"

"If one can answer 'yes,' then he has a perfect right to believe I would. But if your answer is 'no,' then how can anyone say that I would? I am 43 years old and there is no one who can say I have ever been anything but a good neighbor. This is the first time I ever saw the inside of a jail."

Representatives of the city and county health unit, hospital trustees, chamber of commerce and city officials welcomed the health care here and outlined the work being done by the unit.

Dr. Angus Acker, of the state health department, delivered the principal address. Dr. G. O. Wheeler, president of the city-county board of health, said health work should be made general and pointed out that several cases of typhoid fever in this county at present probably originated in some adjacent county where health education has not been made general.

FOX PUBLICITY MAN FOOLED BY PARROT

Earle E. Griggs, publicity director for the Fox theater, is telling a joke on himself this week. One of the acts on the Fanchon and Marco "Hot Dominoes" stage presentation is called "Let Us Be Gay." The advance information did not elaborate on the act other than to relate that they were a comedy duo. Assuming that this act was two men and a girl, Griggs merely indicated this in his notices and said the act was an aerial comedy act. And then came the revelation. Polly of the act is a parrot. And what a high light to a delightful burlesque aerial act.

George O'Brien, in "Rough Romance," the Fox feature picture, assisted by Helen Chandler and Antonio Moreno, is giving an old-fashioned melodrama which is refreshing, and, laid in the snow-bellied big woods, is proving a real antidote for the hot weather.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

If the lion had not been wounded, the boma and the flames might have turned him back, but now the pain and the rage wiped caution from his mind and with a loud and angry roar he topped the barrier with an easy leap and was among the horses. What had been pandemonium before became now an indescribable tumult of hideous sound. Men leaped from their blankets and with guns ready ran toward the picket line, and then from the jungle beyond the boma a dozen lions, emboldened by the example of their fellow, charged upon the camp.
